Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-eight

VOLUME VI

Published by
The Senior Class of Louisburg College
Louisburg, N. C.

Foreword

College memories . . . invaluable and desirable for all of us in the years to come. Fate has decreed that oftentimes these memories shall fade, wither, and almost die away. To paint, in word and picture, memories of our colorful yet fleeting past of trailing gowns, old grape arbors, civil strife, hoop skirts, and spinning wheels, along with the events of this college year, so as to stamp them forever upon our memories, is the purpose of this book.

Much of this improvement was due to the beneficent kindness of Mr. R. H. Wright who donated $83,000 so that a building might be erected in memory of his sister, Pattie Julia Wright. On November 23, 1927, the dedication of this, the fulfillment of our dream, Pattie Julia Wright Dormitory, was duly observed.

It seems that Louisburg is thriving more than ever before for it has been very fortunate in having secured the coöperation of the good-hearted people of Franklin County. Through their kindness, another building, nearing completion, has been added to the college and when we returned to school September 7, 1927, to our great joy, we found that the first floor of this building was completed and opened for occupation.

It makes us even more proud of our college to walk through this building for there we find a large library of three rooms, several classrooms, an art studio, and a chemistry and biology laboratory. Each of these rooms is equipped with the best of modern furniture. If our plans succeed, the Franklin County Building will be entirely completed by the fall of 1928.

Class Poem of '28

We've had our last lessons together,
We've laid all our books aside;
And this is the evening, dear Classmates,
When laughter is wont to subside,

But why should we be sad and gloomy?
The classes have been tested and tried;
The stupidest student has vanquished
And the dullest has stepped aside,

We shall rest, and in faith we shall need it;
We shall rest for a moment or two,
Till the wonderful school of experience
Shall set us to work anew,

And those who have won shall be happy;
They shall pass through life's high grade;
They shall face the world's difficult problems
With a countenance quite unafraid,

And each in her separate calling,
Her separate thought must express;
As she follows the gleam as she sees it,
To the goal that to her means success,

RUBY WHEELISS.

The History of the Class of '28

Blessed be God, at the end of our Senior year, we are in good health, without any sense of our old cares, upon taking up our work in the wide, wide world. We have lived in Louisburg for four years, having fifteen teachers, and no other men than Mr. Mohn and Mr. Best.

September 7, 1924. This day entered Louisburg College Academy sixteen unsophisticated girls to begin a long journey in quest of knowledge.

September 11. Assembled and elected Sarah Burns president, Margaret Newbern, vice president, and Miss Leonard, class adviser. With these most efficient officers we resolved to have a prosperous year.

November 2. Great talk as to who would be selected for Executive Board. This day, we came to the agreement that Margaret Newbern be student councilor for us. With her excellent ability she promised to represent us well.

May 27. Our Freshman year was ended, and Blessed be Almighty God for it! We felt that we had gone a fourth of the way on our journey even though the year had been rather uneventful.

September 9, 1925. We took up our work as bold, bad Sophomores and determined to have a year of fun and frolic.

September 11. The eighteen Sophs met and voted Miriam Edgerton, president; Alice Blackstone, vice president; and Miss Guthrie, class adviser.

November 17. Growing in knowledge and ability, Nannie Waller was chosen as treasurer of the Student Government and secretary of the Neithcan Society. I confess, we began to feel very important as honor upon honor was bestowed upon our enthusiastic group.

November 20. Others of our class were designed to bring us honor also—Evelyn Harrison and Miriam Edgerton made the Senior basketball team.

April 1. Busy all day preparing for an April Fool party! It proved to be a success both in finance and enjoyment.

May 23. Miss Guthrie entertained us at a dinner party at Tucker's Cafe. Evelyn Harrison expressed the thanks of the class for her loyalty and untiring efforts in our behalf.

May 26. We departed for our homes in good spirits.

September 7, 1926. How proud we were to register as Junior! We took up our duties in a most handsome and thriving condition.

September 12. Gathered and voted Evelyn Harrison, president; Minnie Perry vice president, and Miss Guthrie and Miss Woods, class advisers.

November 21. Dedication of Pattie Julia Wright Memorial Dormitory. Luncheon in honor of our beloved benefactor, R. H. Wright.

December 2. Juniors and Seniors matched strength and skill in a basketball game. Juniors won!

February 22. Holiday! Track Meet—Juniors Victorious! Banquet and stunts.

March 17. Juniors entertained Seniors at an informal reception.

May 27. Returned to our respective homes with great joy and thanksgiving.

September 7, 1927. Seventy-five girls registered and assumed their dignity as they were now "Stately Seniors."

September 10. First Senior class meeting! Elected Ruby Wheless, president; Frances Scarborough, vice president; and Miss Bizzell class adviser.

October 23. Seniors "partitioned" faculty for night at fair. Much to our sorrow it was not granted.

October 26. Our beloved class teacher, Miss Bizzell, entertained us at a delightful party.

November 5. Seniors welcome home our most esteemed President, Mr. Mohn, who was away on leave of absence.

November 7. Punished by being reduced to status of Freshmen for one month.

November 10. Donated fifty volumes to the college library.

November 25. Wonderful success both in enjoyment and finance!

December 7. Seniors again! Blessed be Almighty God for it.

Prophecy

Ten years after I had been encouraged by the blurb that a girl with a diploma from Louisburg College and ten cents could get a cup of coffee most anywhere, I checked out to see if that had meant more to the other members of the class of '28 than it had to me. I drifted back to my Alma Mater. My word! perched in the place of Mills High School was an aviation field whose chief pilot was Kenneth Collier. I told him my business.

"Sure, kid, I can give ya some quick dope. Hop in this coupe—and it won't be long now."

But, I grinned, "no mum, no fun."

"I can sympathize then. Me and my dough are as far apart as a movie blonde and her brains."

We jugged up on the Flying Baby. I felt like rolling up in a faint at first; but I had a long talk with my conscience, and we decided to be brave and lamp out all the Seniors we could. When we were up about three hundred feet, I found a familiar looking object sprawled on the steps of a church. I threw out my radio line and picked up a conversation with Mary Yann.

"Just fed up on the profession of sunning—Grace Fields is joining me now shortly. She's been reeking with logarithms for the past ten years. Wants something new now."

"Be your age, girlie, and tell me where to find some of the rest of the gang," I yelped.

As we breezed a little farther I spied a group of busy-bodies drawn around a chit-chat spot.

"We are right now trying to develop a square with five sides,"—this was Miriam Shavender and Inez Ramsey.

"Oh, that's the cat's adenoids," chimed Mary Credle, "I'm helping Mary Leekie Read and Alice Blackstone wholesale smiles—We have a funny business too."

"I'm pouring out a steady stream of advice. Rebie Liles and Adele Cobb are my chief receivers."

We drifted over a little farther. Kenneth laughed, "you're a keg of nails when it comes to checking up on people. Look!—there's some more Louisburg candles." Mary Newbern, Vivian Newell and Maude Newbern greeted us. "Hello there—how d'ye like our hope fires? We've had them burning ten years today."

"This gets my goat," returned Mary Spence coming up to warm her feet. "I got overheated handling the hose for Lucie Thompson the nite Minnie Perry's stone quarry burned down."

"I'm all in," frowned Margaret Farlow, "I've been spraying sunshine with Gladys Sutton and Frances Ragan for ten years, and I'm sore of it now. They like it worth a penny though and won't come to the country with me."

"I've been covering up my love for Bill Perry," sighed Pauline Thornton.

"Well, I have no objections. In brain measures 2 gmts—1 $\frac{1}{2}$ wit," pulled Margaret Bryan. As I suspected Kate Saunders dragged herself into the conversation giggling, "I'm the skillest faucer in the kitchen and I just love the work."

"Everybody called me a fat-head when I left college, but it has just been my luck to thrive on a pile of mottoes ever since. Can't fool education," Myrtle Green, Elizabeth Fussell and Blanche Hockaday said this all three to the same time. I'm no detective, so I reckon they all meant it.

A lady interrupted my astonishment with a look that's launched a thousand tiffs and Yelped, "Who wants any river heads bitten off? I'm the toughest egg that ever scrambled a fist in another girl's pan." As she galloped by I saw she remained to be none other than Ruby Wheelless. "What's rattling between your fenders? Come down and help Nannie Waller, Bess Jones and me find all the tacks in the road of experience. It's much more exciting," shouted Evelyn

Harrison. "Mary Susan Fuller and I have been working on that formula ever since we left college. We have it now By Jove! and we're satisfied." Doris Rogers said this as she beamed with joy.

At this moment Catherine Bullock came riding up on a motor bicycle with three wheels and asked, "What you want laughed off? that's my trade."

"You, for the choice," answered Louise Kirkman. "I've been week-ending in this country for nine years and you've been here too much of the time to suit me."

By now we had spanned the air a good way, and after laughing a few minutes I hung my bean out the window of the Flying Baby again.

"Mildred Person, if you and Elizabeth Johnson don't hold that light more steadily I'll never finish chopping this wood," fussed Lalla Thompson.

Two gay-looking flappers came upon the scene.

"A girl can't be too careless nowadays. I was traded in for a ukulele ten years ago and I've been strummed on ever since," Florine Hayman was saying.

"That's less than nothing! I've been part of the curriculum at State College for quite awhile. Since that time no guy has graduated without taking a course of me," yelled Miriam Edgerton.

A delicate looking figure breezed into sight. Kenneth said it looked like Helen Bowling. She had a saucepan in her hand and cried aloud, "I'm trading frying pans for percentage on fire. Who'll peddle in a little fire for me today?"

Leta Cashwell emerged from an odd looking tent and shouted in a shrill voice, "Come in and see my latest designs in sausage casings. Some in here and others down at the stockyard."

This rough stuff was getting wet to me so I closed my blinkers for a rest. Next time I peeked out I saw Myrtle Simpson, Ruby Neal, and Lucille Brady sitting under a tree smiling at themselves. Myrtle made this wise crack, "We've stolen time from our embroidery ever since we left college. Let's try to get some easy work." Instantly they hopped away toward a country store.

Pretty soon a red sign gazed me in the face. It read: "A Fly in the hand is worth two on the nose—when you're trying to sleep. Come here to catch your naps. We are experts at soaking flies in the left eye," signed Ellen Hughes, Kimiko Yaminishi and Mae Gooden.

Then I saw Frances Reeves and Essie Jernigan sitting in a large rocking chair by this sign, holding a green paper. When they saw Kenneth they unrolled it and read, "We inhale oatmeal for all worthy men." Doris Hardee must have heard Essie's voice for at once she and Frances Scarboro oozed into sight, carrying spades.

"We'll dig worms for anybody if they're willing to pay five cents each for nice fat ones. The skinny ones are free."

I kept on doing my stuff. I saw Amette Whittfield carefully embracing Wilma Blake, Ruby Worthington, Lessie Davis and Mary Dickerson. Ruby sniffed.

"We've most gone dilly repeating ourselves. But we intend to be understood, so we'll just keep company with this same job."

Myrtle Watson, Estelle Thomas, Sadie Lewis, and Thelma Richards ran upon the scene dressed in modest bathing suits. A colored woman kept ahead of them and growled, "Goin in fur Football, ain't puticular no mo."

They were just before getting out of sight when Betty Herring, Margaret Powell and Virginia Sloan appeared, each tugging an arm full of yard sticks and singing these words,

"We measure milk by the yard, according to the dairyman's card."

I was surprised to see that all the names of my class had a check by them, so I punched Kenneth in the back, and we pitched. Now everything's sittin' pretty on top o' the world with me, and I got no desires to upset the apple cart.

Yours truly,

E. WILKINSON.

Ballad of '28

"Where are you going, my young college friends,
On this glorious Commencement day?"
"We're off to the Land where the rainbow ends
And the shining waters play."

"What will you do, my young college girls
Who're so eager to run away?"
"We'll find us some lads with golden curls
And with them we'll dance and play."

"And what will you do, my foolish fair ones
When you are tired of play?"
"We'll bask in the rays of a thousand suns,
And bathe in the Moonbeam's spray."

"Will you never work, my dear college maids,
In this magic land so fair?"
"No need to work where no one upbraids,
We guess we'll do nothing there."

"Don't you hear the call, dreamers fair,
That comes from the need of man?"
"Oh, yes, we can never linger there
We must do whatever we can."

"Then where are you going, my young college friends,
On this glorious Commencement day?"
"We're off to the harvest fields of home
To garner the precious hay."

"Who taught you to answer the call so clear
When you tho't to have a good time?"
"Oh, we learned that at dear old L. C.
For those days we'll ever pine."

"And what will you leave to the grand old Juniors
Who have been faithful and true to you?"
"We will leave to them our glorious banner
To which they must ever be true."

"And what will you leave to the great, old school,
To your Alma Mater so dear?"
"We'll leave our love, pride, and loyalty
Through all the coming years."

The Last Will and Testament

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA }
COUNTY OF FRANKLIN } LOUISBURG COLLEGE
CITY OF LOUISBURG }

In the Name of God, Amen.

We, the Class of 1928, of the State of North Carolina and the county of Franklin, being sick in body but perfect and sound in memory, thanks to the Faculty for same, and calling to mind our short continuance at Louisburg College, therefore having desire to settle and regulate all the whole of our temporal affairs before we go home and be no more seen about the campus, do hereby make and ordain this our Last Will and Testament, whereby we convey and distribute all our temporal belongings in the manner and form following:

Item 1. To Mr. and Mrs. Mohr and Faculty we do will one rake and hoe to Regulate and Clean the Campus.

Item 2. To Dean Betts we will our two slaves, Rouge and Lipstick, with our privilege of making them serve any other Young Ladies who may have dire need of same.

Item 3. Doris Hardee does will her Regal Mien to Carrie Belle Ruffin so that she may grow in Propriety and Favor.

Item 4. Ruby Wheless does will her full length Hoop Skirts to Myrtle Melver, Myrtle needing same for extremely bowed limbs.

Item 5. Frances Scarborough does will her Pantalettes to Willie Alexander.

Item 6. Virginia Sloan does will her Spinning Wheel to Jane Mercer that she may spin her yarns the better.

Item 7. Maxwell Allen does will her Leg o' Mutton Sleeves to Margaret Wilder, lacking the same.

Item 8. Leta Cashwell does will her Pompadour to Catherine Davis.

Item 9. Alice Blackstone does will her Demure Pedagogical Manner to Miss Mary Bosworth.

Item 10. Pauline Thornton does will "It" to Fanny Goddard.

Item 11. The Senior Class, finding itself in Possession of three pounds of Sugar and one hogshhead of Lard after the Bazaar, wills these items to Mrs. MacMullan.

Item 12. And a pair of Pillow Cases and Sheets to La Rue Dixon and Lucy Wynne.

Item 13. Miriam Shavender, Mary Credle, Leta Cashwell and Essie Jernigan will their Park Benches to Rachel Lee, Ruth Lewis, Gladys Newbern and Rosebud West.

Item 14. To our respected parents, who through their sacrificial love have made this journey so far on Life's road a success, we will our untiring efforts in trying to make their lives as happy as they have made ours.

Item 15. To our Faculty we will our deepest appreciation of their greatest efforts to bring us to this final goal in our College Career.

Item 16. To our Alma Mater we give our pledge of Loyalty and Love through the coming years.

We, the Class of 1928, constitute, make and ordain the Class of 1930 the executor of this our last Will and Testament, and do hereby utterly disallow revoke, and disannul all and every other former Testaments, Wills, Legacies, Bequests and executors by us in any wise before named. Wil'd, bequeathed, Ratifying and Confirming this and no other to be our last Will and Testament. In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hand and seal this the twenty-second day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight.

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared by the Class of 1928 as their last Will and Testament in the presents of me.

Our Sororities

Yes, there is nothing more enjoyable than the home-like atmosphere with which the sorority surrounds its young college girls. We believe that this, the sorority, is an institution which is greatly beneficial to the girls within its bounds. It embodies not only social life, but an earnest endeavor to increase loyalty toward God, the faculty, the student body, and toward self. It is a chain in which the bonds of sisterhood strengthen those of friendship and in so doing, furnish a strong and lasting link to college life.

Here, the Alpha Omega Phi, the Delta Iota Kappa, and the Sigma Delta Theta sororities, extend a hearty welcome to the fourth link of the chain, the Kappa Sigma Phi. May these four sororities of Louisburg College, made up of groups of congenial girls who have chosen to form themselves into secret organizations, continue to work together, play together, and ever hold in existence the spirit of sisterly love among them, guiding them to the higher and nobler life.

College Life

Just to Make You Smile

✻ ✻ ✻

He who laughs last has told the joke.

✻ ✻ ✻

MARY LECKIE: What? You flunked that course again?

HAZEL: What do you expect? They gave me the same exam.

✻ ✻ ✻

JIMMIE: I love you, Sweetheart.

MIRIAM: Oh, don't be so sentimental.

LETA: I am in love and I am loved.

MYRTILE: Then, you must be perfectly happy.

LETA: But it isn't the same man.

JANE: I've just had my hair shingled.

NANNIE: What's the matter? does your roof leak?

MOTHER (Trying to patch up quarrel between young lovers): Dorcas, you must not mind Fred's fretfulness. He is just temperamental, you know.

DORCAS: Oh really! I thought maybe he was teething.

✻ ✻ ✻

MISS YANCEY: I wouldn't marry the best man on earth.

ANNIE MAE: What would be your objection?

MISS YANCEY: He'd be too darn good.

COLLEGE PROVERBS

ALL OF US: Exams are like the Poor; we have them always with us.

MISS BETTS: The "Pink of Perfection" is generally Rouge.

MARY CREDDLE: A College girl is known by the dates she keeps.

MINNIE P.: Madge, do you want to know how to get Miss Yancey's goat?

MADGE: You bet.

MINNIE P.: Get him where's tied.

W. N.: How's your fair lady?

JIMMIE: Only fair.

Miss Bizzell while sitting at the telephone waiting for the results of the Dempsey-Tunney fight had the following conversation with Miss Crenshaw:

MISS CRENSHAW: What are you doing?

MISS BIZZELL: Waiting for the results of the fight.

MISS CRENSHAW: What fight?

MISS BIZZELL: Dempsey-Tunney fight.

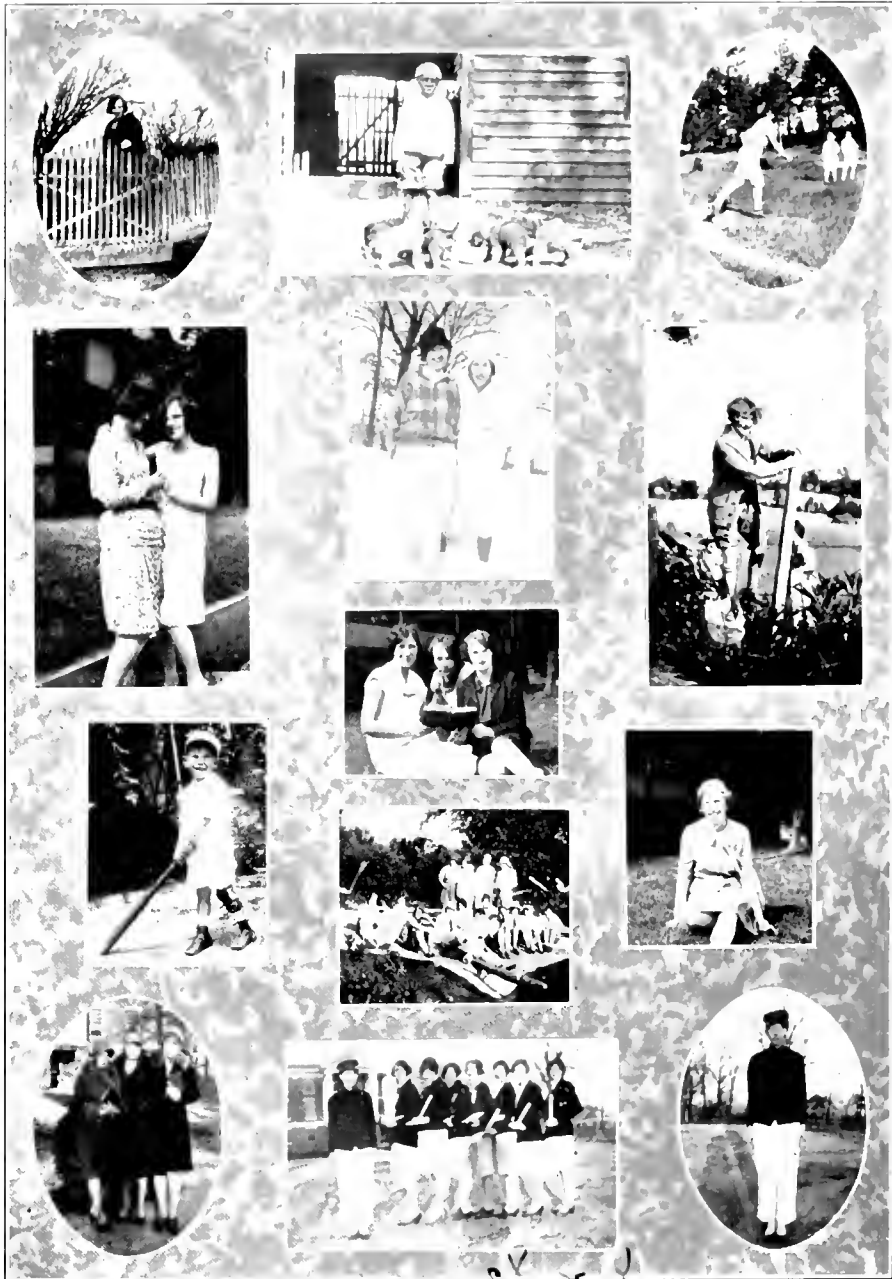

MISS CRENSHAW: Where, where! Here in Louisburg?

✻ ✻ ✻

BILL M: I kissed her while she wasn't looking.

DICK: What did she do?

BILL: Kept her eyes closed the rest of the evening.

Best wishes
 to you.

 Mary

MAY DAY SCENE 1927

Do These Amuse You?

✿ ✿ ✿

TOOTSIE: What is that piece they are playing?

KATHRYNE: "What does it matter?"

TOOTSIE: Oh, I just wondered.

JIMMIE: Do you object to petting?

LOUISE: That's one thing I have never done yet.

JIMMIE: Petted?

LOUISE: No, objected.

BUCK: Could I have a date tonight?

RACHEL: Yes, if you could find any one dumb enough to date with you.

BUCK: Well, I'll see you about eight o'clock.

✿ ✿ ✿

LOUIS: Don't you think Mary looks like a lovely flower?

KENNETH: Yes, one of these century plants.

✿ ✿ ✿

GENE: You flappers don't know what needles are for.

PATTY: Well, I do—they're for the phonograph.

"So Madge has been injured and is going home from college?"

"Yes, she sprained her ukelele finger!"

✿ ✿ ✿

MIRIAM: I understand that some of these movie kisses last through fifty feet of film.

MARY: That's nothing. I have had some that lasted over a half mile of concrete pavement!"

✿ ✿ ✿

JOE: Is that your flaming Virginia in the red dress?

DICK: Why yes.

JOE: Well, she is out on the porch having a fire drill with another guy.

RUTH: Hey, lemme a quarter, will you?

RACHEL: Say, if it cost five cents for a trip around the world I couldn't get out of sight.

✿ ✿ ✿

BILL: Half-pint, what makes you so small?

PAULINE: Oh! I was brought up on condensed milk.

✿ ✿ ✿

FRANCES: Have you heard about the elevator dance?

MIRIAM E.: No.

FRANCES: It's a cinch. No steps in it.

✿ ✿ ✿

"To be twins," says Lucy, "sure is great,"
And a kind dispensation of fate
When together indeed, no mirror we need
To see if our hat is on straight.

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to interpret the ideas of the Staff and create in material form their vision.

From the art work and engravings to the finished book, this volume is the result of organized cooperation with the Staff.

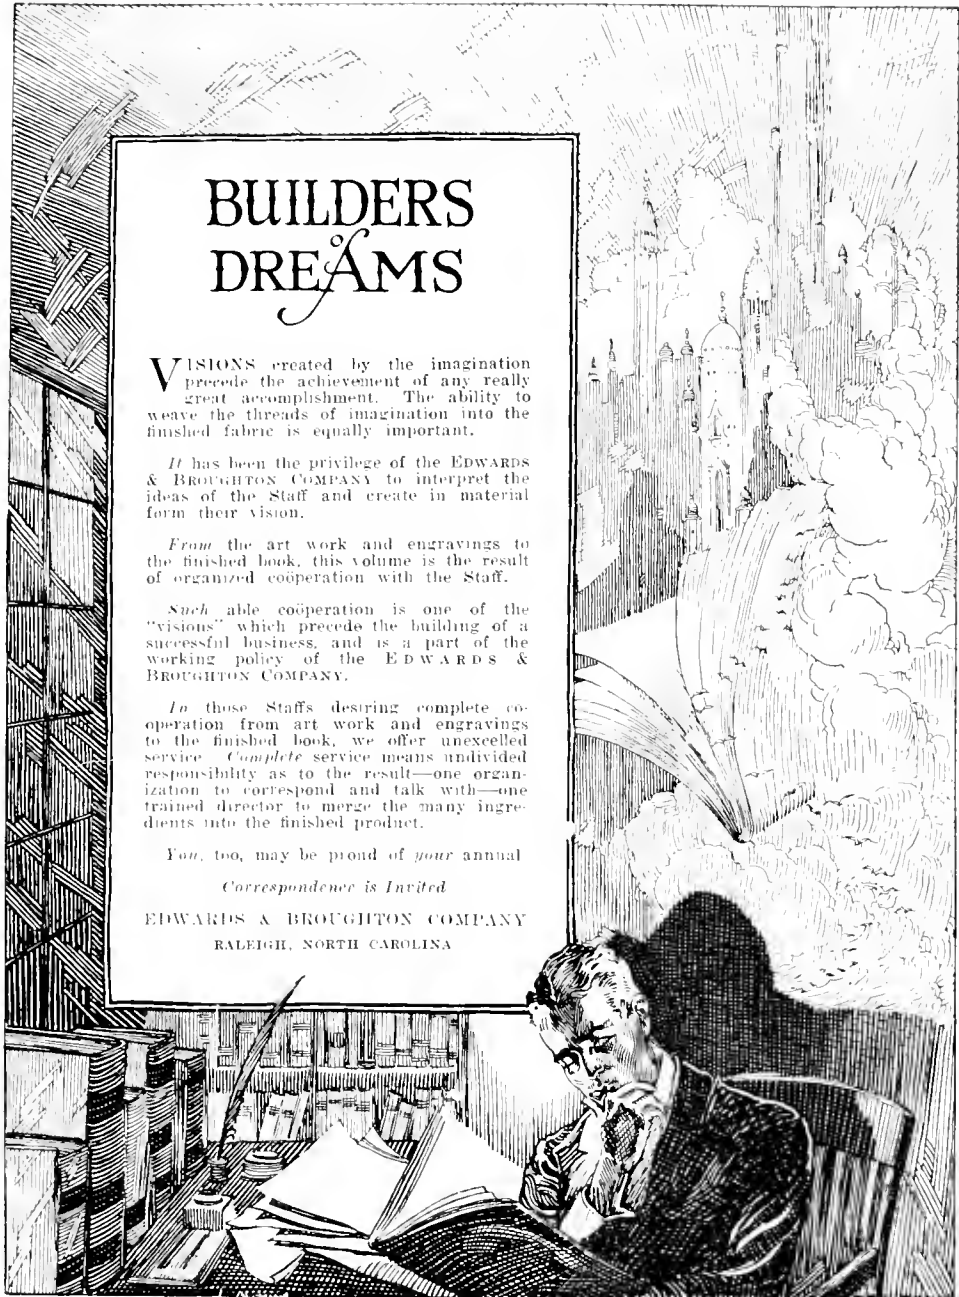

Such able coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

In those Staffs desiring complete coöperation from art work and engravings to the finished book, we offer unexcelled service. Complete service means undivided responsibility as to the result—one organization to correspond and talk with—one trained director to merge the many ingredients into the finished product.

You, too, may be proud of your annual
